Introduction

Overview

The International Policy Centre for Inclusive Growth (IPC-IG) is pleased to present its 2019 Activity Report, outlining its research projects, knowledge products, and outreach activities conducted in the past year. The IPC-IG is a leading global forum for dialogue on development policies, and its work reflects its mission of promoting policy dialogue and facilitating learning between developing countries around social policies for inclusive growth.

By disseminating this Activity Report, the Centre seeks to account for its work and inform stakeholders, partners, donors, and society in general, by providing transparent and accurate information on all the projects and activities conducted over the past year.

Since its foundation in 2002, the IPC-IG has been providing services and tools to strengthen the institutional capacities of countries to design, monitor and evaluate social policies. The Centre, alongside its partners, policymakers and experts, develops solutions to strengthen both human and institutional capacities and resources.

The IPC-IG is guided by a partnership agreement between the Government of Brazil and the United Nations Development Programme (UNDP). The Centre also has the support of the Brazilian Cooperation Agency (ABC), linked to the Ministry of Foreign Affairs.

The innovative approaches used by the IPC-IG are based on three pillars: knowledge production, knowledge-sharing and capacity-strengthening:

- knowledge production: carrying out research and studies, such as policy analysis and evaluations;
- knowledge-sharing: gathering knowledge and facilitating the exchange of innovative experiences and initiatives among countries; and
- capacity-strengthening: providing and facilitating the collaborative construction of capacity-strengthening activities and flows of knowledge across countries.

This report covers the period from 1 January to 30 September 2019. It comprises three main chapters, each presenting information regarding the projects and research activities undertaken and the knowledge products published during the year. The projects and activities are grouped around the Centre's three pillars: knowledge production (14 projects); knowledge-sharing (3 projects and the participation of IPC-IG staff in 43 international and national seminars); and capacity-strengthening (3 projects).

The information is presented as overview tables, displaying information about the partners, objectives, outcomes and the team summary of each project, accompanied by a snapshot of outputs and tangible results. Finally, the report introduces the Centre's staff in 2019.

Our most sincere thanks go to the Communications, ICT, Programme, Publications and Operations teams, whose names do not always appear in the tables below. Their contribution is essential to the success of any of the Centre's initiatives, and there can be no doubt as to how much value they add to the quality of our work. Their work and abilities guarantee the high quality and delivery speed of outputs.

Projects and thematic areas

In 2019 the Centre expanded its portfolio by increasing its thematic fields of activity, especially at the intersection of social protection and environmental issues, mostly regarding climate change and the Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs).

By September, the Centre had implemented 20 projects in the areas of social protection, South–South cooperation, monitoring and evaluation (M&E), food and nutrition security, public policy design, and capacity-strengthening in Brazil, Egypt, Kenya, Mozambique, countries in the Middle East and North Africa (MENA) region and in South Asia.

Knowledge production

The Centre’s knowledge production activities comprise outputs from both research projects and publications. Together with partner institutions, practitioners, and governments, the IPC-IG answered the requests of various countries of the South and conducted 14 research projects to design, analyse and evaluate public policies. To consolidate the knowledge gathered during these activities, 109 publications were released in different formats and multiple languages.

IPC-IG publications also serve to share both newly produced and previously existing knowledge with a global audience that includes policymakers, academia, practitioners, members of the media and civil society in general, and to improve the international debate in the cooperation arena. Below we present the projects undertaken in 2019.

The IPC-IG is supporting knowledge production on the state of social protection in South Asia. To this end, the Centre is producing four reports with recommendations on how different stakeholders (national, regional and international) can contribute to the ongoing development of the social protection initiatives and policies in the region.

The first report will review the existing social protection mechanisms in South Asia, assess how child-sensitive they are and discuss social expenditure among the countries of the region. The second report will provide a desktop review and regional analysis of the existing legislative frameworks on social protection, focusing on child protection legislation. The third report is a desktop review and regional analysis of gender sensitivity in current social protection programmes. The fourth report will provide a desktop review of the existing impact evaluation studies and their findings regarding child poverty, human development and access to jobs.

There will also be a One Pager summarising the findings for each country of the region, as well as one webinar for each report and One Pager.

Main outputs	<ol style="list-style-type: none"><li>1. Develop a proposal for the Integrated Social Protection Policy (PPIPS).</li><li>2. Elaborate the following documents: Integrated Social Protection Policy (PPIPS)—Final Version, PPIPS—Summary Document and PPIPS—Action Plan.</li></ol>
Team 2019	Coordination: Fábio Veras Soares and Sergei Soares  Researchers: Carolina Bloch and Sergei Soares  Intern: Beatriz Burattini

The Government of Morocco, UNICEF and the IPC-IG have partnered in this research project to develop the Integrated Social Protection Policy (PPIPS) and an action plan, which will guide its implementation by 2030. By building on previous discussions and analyses, the elaboration of the PPIPS aims to establish a coherent, integrated and equitable social protection system that covers the entire Moroccan population, with a special focus on the needs of the most vulnerable populations. The implementation of the PPIPS is in line with Morocco's new development model and should contribute to the achievement of development goals (including the SDGs), thus fulfilling national and international commitments.

Knowledge-sharing

The IPC-IG's knowledge-sharing activities in 2019 included two projects and outputs from its communications and outreach endeavours. The Centre promotes debate and disseminates knowledge through a diverse range of channels, such as communities of practice, social media channels, webinars, and multiple communication and information outreach activities. This work includes managing its websites in English and in Portuguese, writing news articles, preparing monthly newsletters in English, Portuguese and French, elaborating press releases, establishing media relations, producing translations of knowledge material, editing videos, and organising policy-related and academic events, such as seminars and workshops.

A global audience of experts, policymakers, practitioners and civil society at large, as well as partner organisations and UN agencies, has been connected through such knowledge-sharing activities. These activities, in addition to the social media presence on Twitter, Facebook, LinkedIn, YouTube and Flickr, have played an increasing role in supporting the dissemination of the Centre's work.

Social media

The IPC-IG strives to maintain an open channel with its audience through a strong social media presence. The rationale behind the Centre's communications strategy is to account for the IPC-IG's work while providing information and helping raise awareness about important global development challenges.

Publications

The IPC-IG believes that the free exchange of knowledge inspires people to produce further research and contributes to a more inclusive future. Part of the Centre's mission is to deliver its evidence-based policy research on issues related to development through different publication formats. All new publications are made freely available online through the Centre's website every month, originally released in English. Translated versions are also produced in Arabic, Bahasa (Indonesia), Chinese, German, French, Italian, Portuguese, Spanish, Turkish and Swedish.

From January to September 2019, the Centre made available a total of 109 publications, including one new issue and one translated issue of Policy in Focus, 73 One Pagers, 12 Working Papers, 17 Research Reports, 5 Policy Research Briefs and 2 Reports. It also produced 71 translations (30 in Portuguese, 19 in Arabic, 17 in French, 4 in Spanish and 1 in German). Since its founding in 2002, the number of publication downloads has reached more than 8.2 million across over 180 countries.

The IPC-IG provides research-based policy recommendations through different publication formats:

Policy in Focus is the IPC-IG's flagship publication—a magazine that seeks to synthesise policy debates and discussions, and educate and increase awareness about specific development themes.
Working Papers published through the IPC-IG are more formal, academic-style works that explore development themes in depth.
Policy Research Briefs present concise theoretical and practical analyses of concrete policy options in the broader development field.
One Pagers are extremely popular short-format publications which seek to introduce a wide audience of readers to the core ideas or concepts explored in greater depth in larger works.
Research Reports present the structured results of projects developed by the Centre, often involving the classification and taxonomy of social protection programmes in different regions of the world.

Top 10 downloads

Some issues published in 2019

Policy in Focus, volume 16, Issue No. 1

“Rural poverty reduction in the 21st century”

While political dynamics differ greatly from one place to another, rural areas continue to have legitimate grievances. Poverty in rural areas is both more prevalent and more acute than in urban areas—about 80 per cent of the world’s extremely poor people live in rural areas. The articles in this issue offer insights into what has been done to reduce rural poverty, presenting some of the progress that has been made and offering suggestions for further progress.

Research Report No. 36

“Fiscal space for child-sensitive social protection in the MENA region”

Providing adequate social protection to children is particularly important in the Middle East and North Africa (MENA), as multidimensional child poverty remains a major concern in the region. Moreover, a demographic dividend will soon take place, presenting opportunities for economic growth. This report takes a close look at fiscal space to identify the scope for additional and more effective spending on child-sensitive social protection: how can MENA countries allocate resources to new child-sensitive social protection programmes and/or increase the budgets of existing ones?

Research Report No. 38

“Gender and social protection in South Asia: an assessment of the design of non-contributory programmes”

Social protection has received increased attention as a measure to reduce poverty and vulnerability and achieve social transformation. Although South Asia has made remarkable progress in terms of human development in recent years, the region still faces significant gender disparities. Discriminatory social norms and structural factors lead to the neglect of girls’ and women’s rights in all areas of life. Social protection systems that respond to these risks are of utmost importance in the region. Against this background, the IPC-IG and UNICEF ROSA have partnered to analyse the extent to which South Asia’s non-contributory social protection programmes have been designed in a gender-sensitive way.
